State colonization society, not to express the satisfaction that is felt with the economical, prudent and energetic course pursued by them e past year. The annual Report of the Treasurer of the Western Shore, which will shortly be laid before you by that officer, in conformity to law, will show the condition of our finances, and enable you to judge what turther legislation, if any, may be necessary in reference to them dur-ing your present session. The balance of funds on find at the ead of the last fiscal year, besides special deposits on interest in several of the bank in Paltimore, and such as have been appropriated to education, the sinking fund, and other special objects, is about fifty thou. sand dollars greater than the balance at the end of the previous year; sand dollars greater than the Darance at the the of the previous year, and the general State of the Treasury, we believe to be quite as good as was anticipated at the termination of the last ression of the Legis.

The documents herewith transmitted marked M. N. O. P. and Q. have been received from the Executives of the several States of Maine, Massachusetts, Lousiana, Mississippi, and Missouri, and each maine, massachuseus, Lousiana, massamph, and massauri, and each contain Resolutions of the General Assembly of those States respectively ondifferent interesting subjects, and are laid before you in compliance with requests contained in the several communications, tance with requests contained in the ling that we advert to the death of the Hon. Joseph Kent, late a Senator of this State in the Congress of the United States, of which you are of course already apprised. Maryland has suffered a severe loss in his demise, and her citizens who more over this bereavment will long cherish his name in grateful remembrance. The devotion to the interests of his country which for remembrance. The devotor to the service; the unlimited confidence characterized his long life of public service; the unlimited confidence in which he was held by all who knew him and particularly by his fellow citizens of his native State; the examplary purity and urbanity which distinguished his public conduct and made him an ornament of private life, render his decease a public calamity and a source of unfeigned and universal regret. We are sure that this imperfect tribute to his memory will find a response with the members of the Legislature and the people, your constituents, whose private regrets you can truly represent and mingle with your own.

We make no will choose one for the minent and responsible station, who sill carry to the discharge that from among our fellow citizens you will choose one for the community and the ability to assert and maintain our rights and interest. and the ability to assert and maintain our rights and interests and the rights and interests of our common country.

A vacancy also occurred, early in the past fall, in the board of Executive councillors by the lamented death of the Hon Gwian Harris, its President, which has been supelied by the election of Benedict J. Heard, of St. Mary's county, to serve for the residue of the term of our late associate and friend.

We cannot forbear a public tribute to the memory of our friend and official brother. For three successive years he had been honored by the Legislature with the station of an official adviser of the Governor, and his advice in that capacity, as it always proceeded from an auxious desire for the public good and an enlightened intelligence of Lis duties, was never without its due authority. An intimate private and official acquaintance for years justifies us in the fun ral eulogy that he was a warm friend, an honest and intelligent man, an accomplished gentleman and a devoted public servant. As a testimony of public respect for the memory of the deceased, we have given directions that his remains be removed, at the public charge, from Berkel-y, is Virginia, where they now repose, to his own family cemetery, is Charles county, in this State.

This communication having, from the extended notice which we felt it our duty to take of the principal subjects treated of, become of sufficient length, as we fear, to weary your attention, if not exhaust your patience, we shall forbear to trouble you, at this time, with a deteil of our views upon other matters, or of our proceedings in related tion to the special duties develved on us by the In reference to such, we shall make you a further communication is a few days; and we shall hold ourselves ready and prepared to firesh you such special information in relation to any business within our jurisdiction as you may at any time desire to possess.

In conclusion, we promise you our hearty co operation in whaterer measures you may adopt calculated to advance the interests, present the rights and maintain the dignity of the State:
